Vulcan Unit Organized For Forthcoming Ninth Victory Loan

Objective
$360,000

The Vulcan Unit has completed its organization in preparation for the forthcoming Ninth Victory Loan which opens next Monday. Officers are: Unit Organizer, W. D. Allan; Chairman, J. T. Willard; Publicity, D. McAfee; Secretary, Mrs. Mable Rae. Salesmen are: T. Howell (Armada), Mrs. Annie Craig (Lomond), V. Bertrand (Milo), Ross Walger (Reid Hill), C. H. "Bud" Andrews (Ensign, Brant and West Vulcan). One more salesman will be added in the next day or two.

Some interesting figures are now available. The total of bonds bought in this unit in the previous eight loans is $1,794,300. Annual interest from these bonds is $53,829, or the average of income of over forty families. Nothing we could say could speak more clearly the benefits of joining the "coupon clippers' brigade". Now we are curious as to whether the total bonds after this loan will be over the two million dollar mark in this unit.

There is to be no loan next spring as this will cover the next year. The amount of bonds purchased in the last two loans was $761,950. This time we are asked to buy a $360,000 investment in our own future, or about 55% of the total of the last two.

EASTWAY

A large group of ladies gathered together on October 11th at the home of Mrs. Ray Onstad to honor Miss Agnes McInenly, whose marriage is to take place this week. All took part in a game which was won by Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Mitchell. Mrs. Lewis gave a Scotch reading which aroused much laughter. Miss McInenly was then presented with a basket gaily decorated in pink with white wedding bells and gold stars. Miss Hilda Page assisted the bride-elect in unwrapping her lovely gifts. The bride-to-be then thanked her many friends in a few well chosen remarks. A delicious lunch was served by the ladies.

REID HILL W.I.

The October meeting of the Reid Hill W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Winter Speer Thursday, the 11th, with a good attendance of members. Mrs. R. Fitzpatrick, president, opened the meeting in the usual way, and Mrs. L. Healy presided as secretary in the absence of Mrs. McRoberts, who had gone to Victoria to be with her recently bereaved daughter. Roll Call was answered by the members each bringing some article of, used clothing for the National Clothing Drive. Plans were made for the Institute to serve lunch at the Becker auction on Tuesday of this week. A motion was passed for the secretary to contact other district Institutes with a view to having them all petition the Foothills Health Unit to have the T.B. Clinic visit Vulcan. The matter of serving lunches at dances to be held the coming winter in the Reid Hill hall was tabled until the next meeting.

A very timely paper by Edna Jaques entitled "Not a Stitch to My Name" was read by Mrs. D. Thomas and much enjoyed. The contest arranged by Mrs. Sales was won by Mrs. G. E. Drummond, and the tea draw went to Mrs. L. Palmer. At the conclusion of the afternoon a dainty lunch was served by the hostess. Mrs. P. McIntyre will be the hostess at the annual meeting to be held on Thursday, November 8th.

INDUCTION SERVICE FOR
REV. V. S. LORD

A special service to induct Rev. V. S. Lord as pastor of Saint Aldhelm's Anglican Church and the Vulcan Mission was held Friday evening, when Rt. Rev. Bishop H. R. Ragg, of Calgary, officiated. Archdeacon Axon, of Calgary, accompanied the Bishop, while Rev. Andrews, of Gleichen, delivered the sermon. Rev. Vaughn-Birch of High River, was also in attendance. The beautiful service was witnessed by many Anglicans and their friends, who later partook of refreshments served by the ladies of the Guild in the church hall.

King's Mission Over in Europe

Norman Macleod, Ottawa correspondent, writing in the Calgary Albertan, discloses that Prime Minister King in going to Europe plans to hold discussions with Queen Wilhelmina, Charles de Gaulle and others. He is concerned with broad questions of peace in Europe, as well as with Canadian trade interests.

Failure of the Big Five to agree at their conference has been of great concern. Mr. King is believed to have met with President Truman before going over to secure his agreement to an alternative to the "big power" settlement. That plan would mean a settlement of European politics, not by a Big Five power group of foreign ministers, but by the Council of the world security organization. This would be a follow up of the San Francisco foundation.

Prime Minister King declined to attend the London meeting of foreign ministers, because he considered such a conference as jeopardizing all the work of the San Francisco conference, and a disguised attempt to return to power politics. He does not believe that power politics will work in the post-war world, and like Australian leaders, has been a consistent advocate of the part which smaller nations should play in making decisions, instead of merely in final consequences.

HALLOWEEN SHELL OUT

A Halloween Shell-out will be held here again this year under the auspices of the Vulcan Elks' lodge assisted by the teaching staff. This year proceeds will go to Alberta Crippled Children instead of the Milk for Britain fund. This shell-out idea proved very successful last Halloween, and kids are very much in favor of repeating it. Full details next issue.

ALSTON

The Alston Students' Union sponsored a social evening on Thanksgiving evening. A small crowd attended.

Some of the wheat in the granaries of the district is heating, consequently there is a rush on the Kirkcaldy elevators.

There will be a dance in the Alston hall, Friday night, October 19th. Everybody welcome.

Mr. M. L. Haggins has received a fine and interesting letter from Gerald who is still in the Old Coun try. Gerald visited that fabulous land of his father and while there saw the lakes of Killarney, Dublin Belfast, and kissed the Blarney stone. (Faith and 'twas entirely uncanny. No Haggins ever naded too!)

Mrs. Lloyd Clemmons was hostess at a shower given at her home for Mrs. Donald Clemmon who recently came west with her husband from Nova Scotia. About thirty-five friends attended and the bride was presented with a chenille bedspread and a well-filled purse. Donald has a position in Calgary and the young couple will reside there this winter.

In our village we have twin girls, the three and a half year old daughters of Everett and Mrs. Beckner. They are identical and bewildered questioners have always had to put the question "Are you Bonny or are you Betty." We suppose that answering that question a million times has become monotonous and lately the little girls are starting to capitalize on this striking similarity. They take the attitude that what people don't know won't hurt them and either answer to either name or declare that they are the other. The other night one of them declared to her dad that she was Betty but in reality she was Bonny, but although the dad had an idea that he was being fooled she kept up the pretense for three hours and he could not definitely prove whether she was in fun or earnest. (That's one for you R.D.)

An interesting and delightful shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smith in honor of Miss Elizabeth Smith, bride-elect of Keley Barrett of Hobart, Tasmania. Some sixty friends of the neighborhood gathered, bringing with them a fine array of good wishes and good things to eat. The bride-to-be was presented with a set of exquisite sterling silver salad forks and teaspoons and the presentation was made by Mrs.

Can't Remove Controls As Yet

Donald Gordon, head of the W. P.T.B., spoke to the Calgary Board of Trade and Rotarians, explaining the reason for continuing war-time controls. "Primarily the idea was to prevent inflation which threatens as long as there is scarcity of goods."

Speaking of the meat rationing which is the current inflammatory question, he said that meat shortage was a world condition. He compared meat rations the world over, and said that these proved that in almost all cases, Canadians, even with rationing, were getting twice as much meat as people in liberated areas.

He pointed out that there was no greater potential grounds for revolt and discontent than amongst starved peoples, and that in the interest of bringing about world stability, it was necessary to feed peoples of the world. There is little hope of peace if starvation exists.

Canada's own economic well-being was a second argument. European countries should be assisted toward rebuilding, physically and economically, so that they can afford to buy the goods which Canada must export in order that home stability and well-being may be maintained.

He said "a straight requisition policy without rationing would not work. Alberta, for instance, would get plenty of meat, but many other parts of Canada would go very short, and there would be an uprush of black markets. When such goods as sugar, butter or meat become short in supply the only fair method is rationing."

Speaking of beef prices he said the increase in price of beef cattle during 1939-1945 was higher than in the period from 1914 to 1920. This was in contrast to almost all other farm commodities and in striking contrast to non-farm products. The cattle raiser, he said, had fared well under price control.

He warned of the need for accurate timing in removal of controls, to prevent disastrous inflation and later collapse. This would destroy all values and create great unemployment. In this transition period public understanding is needed more than ever to assure that the efforts made to prevent inflation are not destroyed.

In an interview with miners of Alberta, Mr. Gordon maintained the stand that rationing of meat was necessary. It was pointed out that in lumber and mining camps where men are fed in camps, extra meat rations are issued. Mr. Gordon objected to the method in which the miners had walked out to force a decision, and said that if they went back to their very necessary jobs as evidence of respect for democratic processes, their case would again be reviewed.

The government took over five western packing plants of Burns & Co. to avert a strike for newer demands. J. G. Taggart has been appointed controller.

Pari-mutual betting on Model T races and dog racing will be illegal after Jan. 1. Recently the government announced that all raffles in aid of war charities must be wound up by the end of 1945.

RESTORATION

THE forthcoming Victory Loan is a sharp reminder that expenditures rising out of war do not stop with the order to lay down arms. After the high tension of conflict and the wholesale destruction comes the necessity for rebuilding if the world is to be restored. In Canada there is the program of reconversion of war industry to peace production, the obligation to place all returned men in gainful work or to train them for such work. Veterans must be brought home, and paid their mustering out grants, gratuities and so on. Those who have been wounded in war, must have the best of treatment. Those permanently disabled must have all reasonable care and compensation. Everyone realizes that this involves millions of dollars in expenditure.

The amount called for in the Ninth Victory Loan which opens October 22 is larger than any previous loan, but in the past there have been two loans a year. The coming loan will be the only one called for within the next year.

The people of Canada have realized that the purchase of Victory Bonds has been a matter of self-interest. Under the stimulus of patriotism they have bought bonds, and they have found a practical reward in the saving of money that might otherwise have been carelessly spent. It has not been a painful experience, and the habit of bond buying has been firmly established.

In the face of the huge rehabilitation program ahead, patriotism is likely to burn brightly, and the habit of purchase will continue even though war and bloodshed are over. Investment in the coming loan is for progress and re-establishment, not for destruction. It is for needed public works that will bridge the gap till reconversion is completed.

The time for wholesale spending has not yet arrived, because there is still scarcity of desired goods. It is only sensible to realize that if the public went on an orgy of spending the bonds purchased in previous years, there would be a hectic period of inflation followed by general collapse. Common sense warns that the individual is protecting his own and national well-being by hanging on to his past savings, and adding to them to the fullest extent possible in the next Victory Loan.

Normal return to peace and stability will be more fully assured if the Canadian public postpones spending the savings already accumulated, and invests what can be realized in further bond purchase.

The Ninth Loan will lack to some extent the support which came so generously from armed services, in the past. Many of these young people are just settling into civilian life and are not in position to subscribe as they have in the past. This places on others a heavier obligation for support. The coming loan is mainly for the happy re-establishment of returned men, for whom "nothing was too good" in war years.

Will M.P.'s Get Salary Boost?

If a resolution now before the House of Commons is approved and becomes law, members of parliament will get an extra expense allowance of $2000 a year. The present sessional indemnity is $4000 out of which a single man has $1480 deducted for income tax. It has been contended that few men can maintain business efficiently and at the same time give proper attention to duties of member at Ottawa and at home. The consequence is that only the map of independent means or the very poor is attracted to House of Commons service. It is widely claimed by members that they are out of pocket in undertaking this public service. It is not stated whether the proposed $2000 additional expense allowance would be tax free. Prime Minister King gets $15,000 salary, $4000 sessional allowance and $2000 car allowance. Cabinet ministers get $10,000 salary, $4000 sessional and $2000 car allowance.

NEWS OF INTEREST

A new drug still in test tube stage is believed to be capable of destroying tuberculosis bacilli. It is a hay bacillus found in the air, in the ground, and on hay.

Four hundred Alberta churches have joined in an educational temperance campaign.

Of 1481 known Canadian prisoners at Hong Kong 417 have died of wounds. 757 have now reached this continent.

Serious shortages in farm machinery will be eased to some extent next year, but will not be levelled off for about three years.

Waxing of root vegetables takes the place of moist sand. The mixture for dipping is 1 to 2% bees wax in paraffin, and roots are then carefully packed in boxes.

Cabbage can take moderate frost and go in during October. Stalks and shelves are considered good for storage.

Change In Meat Coupon Values

Beginning October 11, the W.P.T.B. conceded certain changes in meat coupon values.

Cooked meats have been changed from a value of 2 pounds per coupon to 3 pounds per coupon or 6 ounces per token. This applies to meat loaves, jellied meats, bologna and wieners.

Headcheese and liver sausage are now also to be sold at 3 pounds per coupon or 6 oz. per token.

Beef flank trimmed, with bone in, can now be got on a basis of 2½ lbs. per coupon, or 5 oz. per token.

Beef shank knuckle end, veal shank hind, veal shank front and veal hind, lamb flank, breast and neck are now sold at 3 lbs. per coupon.

Changes were based on the experience of movement in meat during the rationing period. This will do away with some of the alleged wastage. But nothing has been done yet about giving a baby the same coupon ration as a miner or a field worker.

Ross Bertrand, Miss Smith spoke most fittingly, expressing her thanks and appreciation of the kindness of the friends among whom she had spent her girlhood and pointing out that with modern transportation a 7000 mile journey was no barrier and extending a warm invitation to all and sundry to visit her in her new home and country. Miss Smith is uncertain when she will be able to go to Australia but is anticipating that it will be within a few weeks.

Mrs. Gore of Acme is visiting at the home of her son Aubrey Gore.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivor Harris of Calgary were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ives, for a few days combining a visit and a pheasant shoot. On Saturday Mrs. Ivors gave a turkey dinner to twelve ladies, former friends of Mrs. Harris who at one time lived in this community.

Although this district is accepted as being a strictly wheat-growing belt there are some farmers who believe in its possibilities as a grazing or cattle-feeding country. Mr. V. J. Bertrand has bought a carload of heifers which he will feed and fatten for the market and Mr. C. M. Allen has purchased 1000 purebred Rambouillet rams and ewes from Robert Hill. This brings C.M.'s flock to 2000 head.

A fine reunion was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Webber who were guests at a welcome home banquet given by the people of Grass Lake to the boys who had returned from overseas. Twenty seven years ago Tom came back from the war and was one of the boys to whom a banquet was given at that time. Many of the boys are sons of Tom's old buddies and Mr. and Mrs. Webber spent three enjoyable days in renewing acquaintance and reminiscing.

Nearly every man and his dog took advantage of the holiday to go to Brooks and other districts and shoot or attempt to shoot a few pheasants. One and all agree that the birds are not as plentiful or in as good shape as in other years. Alibis were more plentiful and more colorful even than the birds but the best story of them, all is the one concerning Jack Rogers, Norman McCord and a couple of other friends. They went first of all to Gem and then to Rosemary and among the four of them they got one bird. This was laid in the well that held a spare tire of the car and all the way home there was a dispute as to the ownership of this lone trophy. Yes, you've guessed it, when they got home the bird was gone, thus causing no threats to a beautiful friendship.

Our congratulations go this week to Mr. Gilbert Williams the popular manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia. Following seven years as manager of the branch at this point Mr. Williams is being transferred to the Pape and Danforth Branch at Toronto. Mr. Williams has been most active in community enterprise while in this district and will be missed greatly. His place is being taken by Mr. B. L. Dewey, at present manager of the branch at Codette, Sask.

There is a great deal of satisfaction that God and the Government have at last decided to co-operate and restore us to Standard time. One farmer said that the measure had cost him an hour's labour each day as six o'clock supper left an hour in which a fellow should be working and yet it was hardly worthwhile to go back to the field after supper.

Our story this week comes from the services. It appears that a certain rough uncouth reprobate developed a hatred of the padre. The padre had reported him for some misdemeanor and the fellow was under the impression that the padre was riding him. He did not have the courage to challenge the padre while sober but one night he met him when he was under the influence. He called the poor padre everything vile, obscene and abusive he could think of and the poor preacher could not get in a word edgewise. At last he paused for want of breath. "Have you said all you are going to say?" asked the padre. "Yes" was the reply, "I have been going to tell you what I think of you for a long time and now you know." The padre spoke quietly: "My profession and my principles prevent me from talking to you as you have to me. I would not sink so low. I just have one wish for you," he continued, "I hope that when you go home to night and turn in at your garden gate and walk up the path to your house, that your mother will spring out from under the porch and bite you."

An unheated attic is a good place for dried onions. Freezing and thawing does not hurt them.

Pertinent Topics

Discussed by H. C.

All are agreed that disagreement among the Big Three must continue until there is a new definition of democracy which all shall recognize. This definition is submitted with a sure and certain conviction it will not be accepted. "Democracy—a state in which any individual citizen or newspaper owing no fealty to a foreign country, is free to criticize and find fault with the government."

No one should have expected President Truman to decide otherwise than that the atomic bomb secret shall remain in possession of the United States, Britain and Canada. Its development cost the U.S. two billion dollars, and Great Britain a hundred million, yet M. J. Coldwell declared at the outset that all the United Nations should be given the secret and the formula. Some of his followers should be curious enough to inquire what his object was and to learn whom he had consulted before committing his party to any such attitude on so important a question.

Most of the Nazi leaders now awaiting trial are convinced that Hitler is dead but we persist in a stubborn refusal to believe it until it is denied by himself.

The ex-Premier of Japan says the Emperor was deceived by his advisers. This is a nice way to talk about a God.

There are many culprits in the world who would enjoy the privilege Laval had of refusing to attend court because he did not like the way it was being conducted.

Discussing the Pearl Harbor episode the Manchester Guardian says that in future wars it is the first blow that will count. It must have in mind the atomic bomb for the general result of great modern wars is that the country that strikes the first blow is stricken by the last. Napoleon won most of his battles but lost all by failing to win at Leipzig and Waterloo. Austria with Germany's backing started the war of 1914 and won nearly all the battles and lost all the war. In the American civil war the South hit first and won most of the battles. Germany, Italy and Japan hit first and are now prostrate. The race was not to the swift, in these and other instances, but the Guardian may be right. It certainly is if there are no adequate defences against the new weapons and explosives.

It must give the Socialist government some concern that when food is sorely needed and food-stuffs are waiting to be unloaded, dockers should go out on strike. Labor members of the government and of parliament must be saying to each other "These are our comrades in the big strikes we engineered in 1921 and 1926, or the students we taught. They learned our lessons too well. They go out now in defiance sometimes of their union leaders and forgetful of the fact that it is a government of their own and therefore not a reactionary one that is now in power."

It must also be borne in upon them that the Tory or Liberal reactionaries whose government they defied in a similar manner are now supporting them in resisting their former comrades or pupils. Reactionaries are useful sometimes when advanced thinkers jump the gun or forward-looking crusaders rock the boat they themselves built and commanded by their own teachers and comrades.

They were useful during the war, too. Answering a charge of want of patriotism made by Socialists in the recent campaign in England against the followers of Winston Churchill, Quentin Hogg M.P. in his book "The Left was never Right" quotes these figures showing war service of members of the late parliament. M.P.'s who served in this war: Conservative 136; Socialist 14; M.P.'s who died for their country: Con. 10, Soc. 0. Decorated for distinguished service: Con. 57; Soc. 5.

The degree of Petain's guilt does not differ enough from that of Laval to justify a recommendation for lenity in one case and not in the other. Every argument for lenity toward Petain was properly an argument for severity. He is an old man; therefore he should have known better; he is a pietist and a marshal of France therefore his crimes all the more heinous. Laval is and always was an oily, scheming rascal who never could distinguish clearly between right and wrong or between meum and tuum. Petain is and always was a craven with an exaggerated sense of his own unctuous rectitude. He sinned against the light. Laval had no light to sin against.

A newspaper calls upon some member of parliament to ask the government to demand from the C.B.C. what excuse it has for showing a deficit in its annual statement. The C.B.C. could make it awkward for the government by inquiring if the government is able to make the parliamentary restaurant pay. Governments and government-controlled bodies cannot afford to be critical of each other in such matters.

A bold, brave man is the mayor of Windsor, Ont., where thousands of Ford workers are on strike. First crack out of the box, he warned the governments to lay off—especially in the matter of law and order maintenance. A week passed and he was calling on both federal and provincial governments to end the strike. Two weeks later strikers were on the city relief rolls and my brave bucko the Mayor was calling on governments to help meet relief bills.

There are 30,710 German prisoners of war in Canada, and none have been repatriated yet.

Bob Edwad's "Eye-Opener"

In his issue of the Calgary Eye Opener on Jan. 2, 1904, Bob Edwards indulges in rancorous thoughts on Ottawa M.P.'s and also on Kaiser Wilhelm, budding menace of that day. He doesn't think particularly well of the oncoming crop of N. W.M.P., and his stark assertion that confidence men operate under protection of Calgary police must have given him uneasy moments once it was in print. Altogether he was in no amiable mood that week.

Calgary Eye Opener, Jan. 2, 1904

Impoverished M.P.'s

The long eight months sitting of parliament seems to have impoverished quite a number of members from Ontario and Quebec. They're clamoring for another short session, not with a view to enacting any new laws or any nonsense of that kind, but with the view frankly of getting their little old fee of $1500. Why not send them all a cheque and be done with it? A short session for the purpose indicated is scarcely consistent with the dignity of Canada as a nation.

They should either have larger pay or shorter sessions. Which reminds us of the man in the fish market who stole a codfish and hid it under his coat. As he was passing out of the market an old fish wife spied the tail of the fish sticking out from under his coat. "Young man," she said quietly, "next time you come round here to steal either wear a longer coat or steal a shorter cod."

Kaiser Wilhelm

We see by a despatch that Emperor William, the War Lord, has been shooting off his mouth again. He has been declaring at a banquet that the Duke of Wellington saved the Duke of Wellington and England from destruction. The War Lord is getting badder every day with rats in his garret and bats flying about in his belfry. The only explanation we can give for his intemperate spouting is that some two-year-old Canadian bulk whisky injected itself into that banquet. His Majesty should attend to that polypus in his throat and let Wellington alone.

N.W.M.P. Changing

The N.W.M.P. so far as the personnel of the men is concerned, is changing its complexion and peroxidizing its hair. It certainly is taking on the appearance of remarkable youth. The old boys, the reliable standbys are gradually dropping off to better their worldly condition in civil life. You really big fellows are in sad minority.

Those who have joined within the past year or two seem to be bright young men, blessed with the usual amount of common sense. But the nature of a policeman's work calls for a peculiar brand of savvy which cannot be acquired in a month or a year or even in two years. Still their youth should not be held too seriously against them if they show any germs of wisdom.

Protection for Con Men

We have no hesitation in asserting that Calgary today offers not the slightest protection (except perhaps from violence) to newcomers who arrive here as prospective settlers. The more innocent ones, those with a good bank roll looking for land, are waylaid by confidence men at the depot, hotel offices and other places and fall an easy prey.

Complaint after complaint has been lodged at the police station within the past three months by men thus robbed, and nothing was ever done. In the case of the more uproarious victims the money may have been returned. The only case exposed, was brought to light by an unfortunate reporter who printed it in his paper. Then he was cuffed about, knocked down and throttled, and given money and ticket to leave town, accompanied by a policeman who saw that he left town. What does the public think of that?

These men are past masters in the art of covering up and destroying evidence. In the absence of direct evidence of complicity of crooks with police it is a waste of time to go into the matter. But in this paper we are exercising newspaper privilege to state that there is a very ugly suspicion that crooked gamblers and con men have been and are receiving protection from the police.

The most distinctive attributes of a large bustling city are street cars, crooked gamblers, confidence men and a complacent police force. We seem to be lacking only street cars.

Every word that Rev. Mr. Patterson said from the pulpit the other Sunday is true in regard to Calgary police and gamblers. We see that eastern papers have taken the matter up. The prevailing sentiment in the city was very frankly indicated at Mr. Patterson's church service. He asked all those men who thought that protection was being granted the crooks, to stand up. Every man in the church promptly rose to his feet.

ODD PRAYERS

Some day I should like to edit an anthology of strange prayers. There is the famous prayer that began: "Doubtless, O Lord, thou hast seen it reported in today's Manchester Guardian..." There is the case of the Scottish Minister who, with Queen Victoria in his congregation, exhorted Her Majesty "to go forth like a he-goat upon the mountains." The latest addition to my collection comes from a reader who, on Sunday last heard the Vicar at his Parish Church pray for "those who are in any way afflicted or distressed in mind, body or estate—especially those who will give their votes this week."

Don't Need Hard Time Laws Now

We do not hear very much now about the colossal debts of the Western farmers, although this used to be a favorite subject of agitators in the depression.

The reason is that the farm debts have been paid off, or are being paid off so rapidly that it is difficult to arouse any interest in this subject.

Particular attention should be drawn to the fact that the farmers of Canada, and of Western Canada in particular, despite a lot of legislation and a tremendous amount of agitation, generally speaking, have been very good debtors. Unable to meet their obligation during an acute depression, they have generally met them, in full, as soon as conditions permitted them to do this.

Those who loan money to farmers have learned a very good lesson. It is that this is a good investment, provided the creditor is reasonable during hard times.

It would be a very unfortunate thing for there to be another wave of borrowing money in Western Canada to buy land and machinery at higher prices. Sooner or later another dose of hard times would make this another problem.

On the other hand, surely both the farmers and their creditors must have learned more respect for each other, and respect, in the form of confidence, is what makes credit good.

In a world in which farmers will die, or retire or move from their farms for one reason or another, there will always be the need of money to be invested in farm mortgages. This might be a good moment for us to remove all the legislation from the statute books that looks like making these mortgages not the very best of security. This was hard time legislation. We do not need it in good times. We should remember that we can always put it into effect again if times become hard, but we should also remember that this legislation was not what cleared up the farm debt situation. That was cleared up by good times on the farm, and by the honesty of the farmers.—Exchange.

commodities, the ceilings imposed on the retailer and the wholesaler acted as an effective brake on the prices of the raw materials. For instance, 20 cents a pound was the wholesale ceiling on commercial beef in the carcass, and as a result only the best finished beef steers would bring 12 cents a pound live weight, and then only in the spring and early summer when cattle going to market were scarce.

But for some reason the Government did not put a ceiling on fish, and the Winnipeg Free Press has been digging into old files to learn relative costs to the consumer. In 1941 pickerel filets sold in Winnipeg at 25 cents a pound; today they cost 51 cents (at a time when consumers are kicking about paying 40 cents for the best lamb cuts). Salmon cuts have jumped from 28 cents in 1939 to 48 cents a pound today; Manitoba whitefish have jumped from 20 cents to 33 cents, and the lowly finnan haddie has jumped from 19 and 20 cents to 30 to 35 cents.

It's a bit difficult to know why, if beef and pork and lamb require a ceiling, fish should escape the pressure. Maybe that's why we're to have meat rationing.

A definite "yes" is Firestone's answer to the second question. Wilbur Shaw, the famous race driver, proved it when he drove Firestone tires 500 miles at an average speed of 100.34 miles per hour over the Indianapolis Speedway—equal to 50,000 miles of ordinary driving.

When you can buy new tires depends largely on UNRRA demands and rationing authorities. Condemnation Rate Is Lower

A reduction has recently been announced in rates of condemnation insurance charged by packers on cattle they buy. The new schedule effective from Aug. 13 is the same across Canada with 20 cts. per head on steers, heifers and bulls, and 50 cts. per head on cows. This is the rate in Eastern Canada also. The old schedule was half of one per cent. on all cattle.

Reduction in the condemnation insurance rate has long been urged by stockmen. Packers introduced this deduction from the price of each animal they purchase to compensate them for losses through having carcasses or cuts condemned by federal meat inspectors.

Champion-Carmangay Unit Organized for Ninth Loan

Total Bonds Purchased in Eight Previous Loans - $1,012,650

Annual Interest from these Bonds :-
$30,379.50

PREPARES FOR NINTH VICTORY LOAN CAMPAIGN

Preparations are now under way by the Champion-Carmangay Unit of the National War Finance Committee for the Ninth Victory Loan campaign which will open on 22nd October. While the quota set for the district is high, it is felt by the committee that with the co-operation of all residents, the realization that no finer investment is obtainable, the knowledge that the funds are urgently required for purposes in which all citizens of the Dominion are vitally interested and the permanent desire of the residents of the Champion district to be second to none in any national undertaking, the amount required will be obtained and the Ninth Victory Loan will rank in the Champion district with the previous eight loans as an outstanding local endeavor. The committee realize however, that for such a result each and every resident must do his or her part and buy to the utmost extent of their ability. They also point out that there will be no further loan for at least a year and ask that residents keep this in mind and endeavour when making their purchases to double the amount purchased in previous loans. As in previous loans bonds can be purchased for cash or on the deferred payment plan without cost to the purchaser for a period of one year from 1st November.

The committee and salesmen who have made previous loans such an outstanding success will again be in the field. The committee is composed of J. D. Hagerman, chairman; D. H. Russell of Carmangay, vice-chairman; U.S. Alexander, secretary and in charge of administration, and E. H. Griffin, campaign organizer. The salesmen are W. F. Bozarth, Ferris Bouzayn J. E. Carlson, J. A. Long, Harold Matlock and George Baillie of Champion, and J. F. Whitmarsh, J. McKie and H. S. Parker of Carmangay.

A meeting of the committees and salesmen of the Vulcan, Milo, Barons and Champion-Carmangay units will be held at the community hall in Champion at 6 o'clock in the evening of Thursday, 18th October when after a dinner which will be served at that time, ways and means of making the campaign a complete success for all units will be discussed. Officials from the provincial headquarters of The National War Finance Committee will be present and a hundred percent attendance is anticipated.

APPEAL FROM ORGANIZER AND CHAIRMAN OF THE CHAMPION-CARMANGAY UNIT OF NATIONAL WAR FINANCE

A war does not end when the shooting stops. Pensions, re-habilitation, grants, social services, employment and re-conversion are only a few of the costly items the government faces as the war's aftermath.

The troops must be returned and we must see that every one of those boys who come back have opportunities, and a full part in the life and development of Canada.

YOU CAN HELP BY BUYING VICTORY BONDS.

Victory Bonds are liquid assets, i.e., they are as good as cash. The first Victory Bond is bid $105. Why not invest?—you have a year to pay for them.

GET READY TO BUY.

You owe it to the boys who fought for us, and you owe it to yourself. Let us make our objective. We have done it before—let us do it again.

E. H. GRIFFIN.
J. D. HAGERMAN.

NOT GUILTY

The noted Welsh divine, Christmas Evans, is often credited with being one of the few preachers who ever succeeded in securing a 100 per cent. collection from an audience.

He had delivered a sermon in an area where sheep stealing had been reported. Prior to the collection he referred to the fact, and pointed out it was sinful to offer such ill-gotten gain.

"I am going to ask," he announced, "if there are any guilty persons present, that they contribute nothing to the collection."

Late Bob Hutton In Secret Work

Parents at Mossleigh Learn That He Was Stationed at Airfield Serving as Link With European Underground

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hutton of Mossleigh have received fuller information of the work in which their son the late W.O. 1 Bob Hutton was engaged when he was killed. He was stationed at an airforce centre at Tempsford, England, and just recently the nature of the service of this station has been revealed.

The Lanark (Ontario) Era has a story of one of the war's big secrets carried out at this station. The compressed story is as follows:

Tempsford is a hamlet in rural Bedfordshire, and none of the inhabitants knew that it held one of the big secrets of the war. They had no idea of the work in which the R.A.F. station, down a side road, was engaged. Names of pilots and crews who did that job cannot yet be revealed (Aug. 29) except for the late Group Captain Picard, D.S.O., D.F.C., the famous "Target for Tonight" pilot. Here the R.A.F. created a link with the underground movement in all occupied countries. The late Group Captain Picard was an expert in "pick-up" flights.

The R.A.F., with R.C.A.F. crews participating, began this branch of its work immediately after the collapse of France. Tempsford was in operation by March 1942, with two special squadrons finally being employed. From Tempsford they delivered arms, ammunition, radio sets, food and such supplies to underground fighters from the Arctic Circle of Northern Norway to the shores of Southern France. From big bombers they dropped their parachute containers, every kind of supply going down from skies to bicycle tires.

For three years the airfield was the air centre of the resistance movements of all Europe. Night after night the villages saw the planes go off and probably heard them droning home in the early hours. But they never saw the men and women in civilian clothes who had been brought to England from occupied France under the very noses of the Gestapo. These refugees were driven quietly away from the airfield.

There were no secret devices to help this passenger service. The R.A.F. plans simply landed in France, picked up their passengers and returned to Tempsford. On their trips they dropped Czech, Polish and Dutch agents in their own countries. About 700 resistance leaders made the trip, and sometimes the R.A.F. brought back documents, maps and messages.

Not all the story can be told even now. The hazardous side of the job was flying the old unarmed Lyanders and bigger Hudsons to the secret landing grounds in France guided only by dim lights in the hands of patriots. All the pick-ups were made in France. Some of the pick-ups were trained as saboteurs in England, then returned to France. One French agent had his feet broken by the Gestapo in an effort to get information, but he escaped from them and was picked up and brought back to England.

Usually when a Lyander went out, the pilot flew unaided, with a map on his knees, searching in the dark for a small field in France. Often the Gestapo arrived just as a plane was lifting from the ground. On one occasion a Hudson got bagged down in landing and the pilot rounded up 200 people, 12 oxen and 6 horses, working for 2½ hours before the plane could leave and a number of important political passengers were on board.

One of the pilots has hinted at the secrecy, by saying that even when high ranking officers not in the know asked about the work, those at the field had to lie like old Harry. It was court martial for anyone who breathed a word about the job.

It must be great comfort to Mr. and Mrs. Hutton to have this light on the very important work in which their son played a part even at the cost of his life.

The commission investigating the C.C.F. charges of Gestapo methods in Ontario, has absolved Premier Drew and his government of the charges of establishing a secret political police office. But the police officer named in the charge is censured.

To donors and others who have contributed in any way to the RED CROSS WARTIME BLOOD DONOR Service in Alberta Division Clinics:

Dear Friends:

This letter is to say "THANK YOU!"

The volunteer Blood Donor Service of the Canadian Red Cross Society was established on January 29, 1940. Since that time, we have received over 2,300,000 blood donations in Canada. As we are now closing the service from a war standpoint we would like to express to you our sincere appreciation for the blood donations you have so generously given.

There is always a joy in doing something for another but there is a special joy when it means the saving of a life. This Service has been the means of saving the lives of hundreds of our men in the Army, the Navy and the Air Force; so you, by your co-operation, have had a part in it. We know this thought will fully repay you.

Now regarding the future, it is most unfortunate that many deaths occur in the hospitals in Canada annually because of the lack of a proper transfusion service. The Red Cross is an organization of mercy and we are now surveying the field in Canada with a view of setting up a service to provide blood for transfusion purposes in all hospitals.

It is anticipated that it will take at least three months to complete the survey; so we again say "Thank you" for your assistance during the war period and we most earnestly request that you join with us when the new service is established in continuing to play a part in the saving of human life—something so dear to us all.

Yours sincerely,
DR. R. C. RILEY,
Chairman, Blood Donor Committee.

The attention of the public is called to the fact that the Mobile Unit will start taking X rays Monday, Oct. 22nd and will also be here on Tuesday, Oct. 23rd if enough people come to keep them busy. The hours are from 9 to 12, and 2 to 6. It is absolutely free to all. The Sanatorium doctors say that a chest X ray should be taken once a year. So it is to be hoped that everyone takes advantage of this wonderful opportunity. If tuberculosis is discovered in the early stages it is much more easily and quickly cured. The San officials especially urge that people over fifty have X rays taken as contrary to the usual belief, many older people have this disease. The pictures are taken very quickly (fifty can be taken in an hour) and are taken in privacy. Pictures can be taken without having had cards signed but the cards signed do help the committee to plan the time for each individual so as to prevent needless waiting. It is hoped that people from the surrounding districts of Mossleigh, Farrow, Shouldice, Queenstown and Milo take advantage of this chance. The Mobile Unit goes to Gleichen and Cluny from here. So this may be the only opportunity for some time to have this done without having to go to Calgary. The Unit is coming here from Strathmore on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 20th to be in readiness for Monday morning.
